Wants Taxpayer Riot

Sir:

It has recently come to light that 50 per cent of the taxes paid in Michigan go to and for education.

As a taxpayer and American citizen, I feel the taxpayers should riot and demonstrate and march and protest against these students who are so against authority. If the students don't like it at Northern Michigan, then they should get and go elsewhere with their rabble rousing behavior. And if they don't go willingly and peacefully, then they should be kicked out on their ear.

Those in authority at the school should be backed up against the troublemakers. All this trouble and protest by the students throughout the country should be nipped in the bud and the guilty ones expelled for their Moscow and Hanoi and Peking-inspired activities. And appropriate legal action taken against the instigators.

I, as a taxpayer, feel sick at heart to think my money, in taxes, is being used to further revolt against authority and to finance the antics of bearded, shaggy men and string-haired females who go to a school just to instigate trouble and try to force communism on us.

McClellan's only one, whereas there are millions of taxpayers who are damn fed up. Expel the troublemakers. The taxpayers are mighty fed up, as I said, and the activities of the students bode ill for any future taxes for education.

Now, do you dare print this? I hope the students don't have you buffaloed, too.

Pasture Of Learning

Dear Sir:

Shame on Dr. McClellan for acting upon things in which he believes are just causes. Doesn't he know that it is forbidden to stir the complacent and indifferent sheep among him? The shepherd wants the minds of his flock to remain still while he leads them blindly in a direction of his wish only.

Yes, shame on Dr. McClellan for wanting to open the minds of these sheep and to let them wander through the meadow of education, choosing the grass of knowledge that is right for each of them. Oh, the terror of it. This one black sheep trying to overthrow the shepherd. Beat him, shepherd, beat him, for his views are not yours. Rid him from the flock and then perhaps, just perhaps, no other sheep will awaken to the fact that all is not well in the meadow. Yes, rid Dr. McClellan from the flock, for if not they might sense all is not well and wander to another pasture of learning.

Peace Demonstrations

To the Editor:

Commenting on Sen. George Murphy's quote in the Oct. 28, 1967, Mining Journal:

The intrepid seeker of Communist subversives who intend to undermine the Christian-capitalist motherhood and apple pie free world said last weekend's peace demonstrations in Washington were "planned in Hanoi." Any good American blood hound who can smell out evil could tell that the well-intending senator is mistaken. These peace demonstrations are not planned in Hanoi. All subversive activities in America (peace marches, college professors, love, welfare and the post office) are planned in the dark shadows of the Kremlin.
