

Bishop Baraga Foundation Elected Officers; Shrine Model Placed On Exhibition

L'ANSE — County Clerk Bernard Lambert, author of "Shepherd of the Wilderness," was elected president of the newly organized Bishop Baraga Foundation.

Named to serve with him were Cyrus Huot, first vice president; Agnes Demaray, secretary, and Shirley Groleau, treasurer.

Also named were three members of a contract negotiating committee: Patrick Ellico, Roger Sirard and Richard Breyer.

Erection Of Shrine Planned

Serving on the foundation's board of directors are Raymond Audette, South Range; Joseph M. Donnelly, Houghton; Roger Sirard, Baraga; and Richard Breyer, Theodore Groleau, Lambert, Adele Sullivan and Con Sullivan Sr., all of L'Anse.

The foundation's immediate objective is construction of a shrine to Bishop Frederic Bar-aga, the "apostle of the Indians" who served Indians and other residents of this area prior to his appointment as the first bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette.

It is planned to erect the shrine on the red bluffs lining U. S. 41 between Baraga and L'Anse and overlooking the Keweenaw Bay area. A scale model of the shrine has been prepared and is being exhibited in several Upper Peninsula communities.

Following erection of the shrine — a project expected to cost approximately $50,000 — the non-profit foundation plans to help perpetuate reverence for the saintly and unselfish life and accomplishments of Bishop Baraga.

Contributions to the foundation are acceptable in any amount, and may be mailed to the Bishop Baraga Foundation, Box 47, Baraga, Mich.

Moratorium Committee At NMU Planning Protest

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee at Northern Michigan University is planning to hold day-long activities in protest of the war on Friday.

The activities will begin at 10 a.m. with a teach-in in the Carey Hall dining room. The teach-in will feature speakers, movies, plays, folk and rock music entertainment, drama readings, poetry readings, debates, an open forum for discussion of any ideas and a symposium. John McDonald, Marquette attorney, will speak at 4:30 p.m. on "A View from Over 30."

At 8 p.m. there will be an interfaith service held in the same location.

Candlelight March

This will be followed by a candlelight march on and around the university campus, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

A peace dance will follow in the Carey Hall dining room. The dance will feature folk and rock music. Donations will be sought for future moratoriums.

The committee is asking those who support the protest to wear black armbands through Friday and to boycott their classes that day.

The moratorium committee also has formed a new organization, the community relations committee, which is seeking meetings with other organizations in the area to discuss the Vietnam war. Organizations wishing to contact this group may call Alan Rose at 227-3605 during the day.

Youth Group Eyes Changes In Charter

Marquette Youth Services will consider recommended changes in its charter and by-laws when it meets tonight at 7:30 in the new Marquette Community
